

How to call someone on Mac and iPad

*Before you can call on an iPad or Mac, you need to sign up.

Signing up

Go to the Facetime Application.

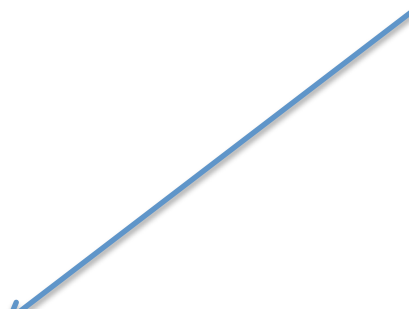

On the iPad/Mac you need to sign up with your Apple ID or your iCloud username and password in order to use Facetime.

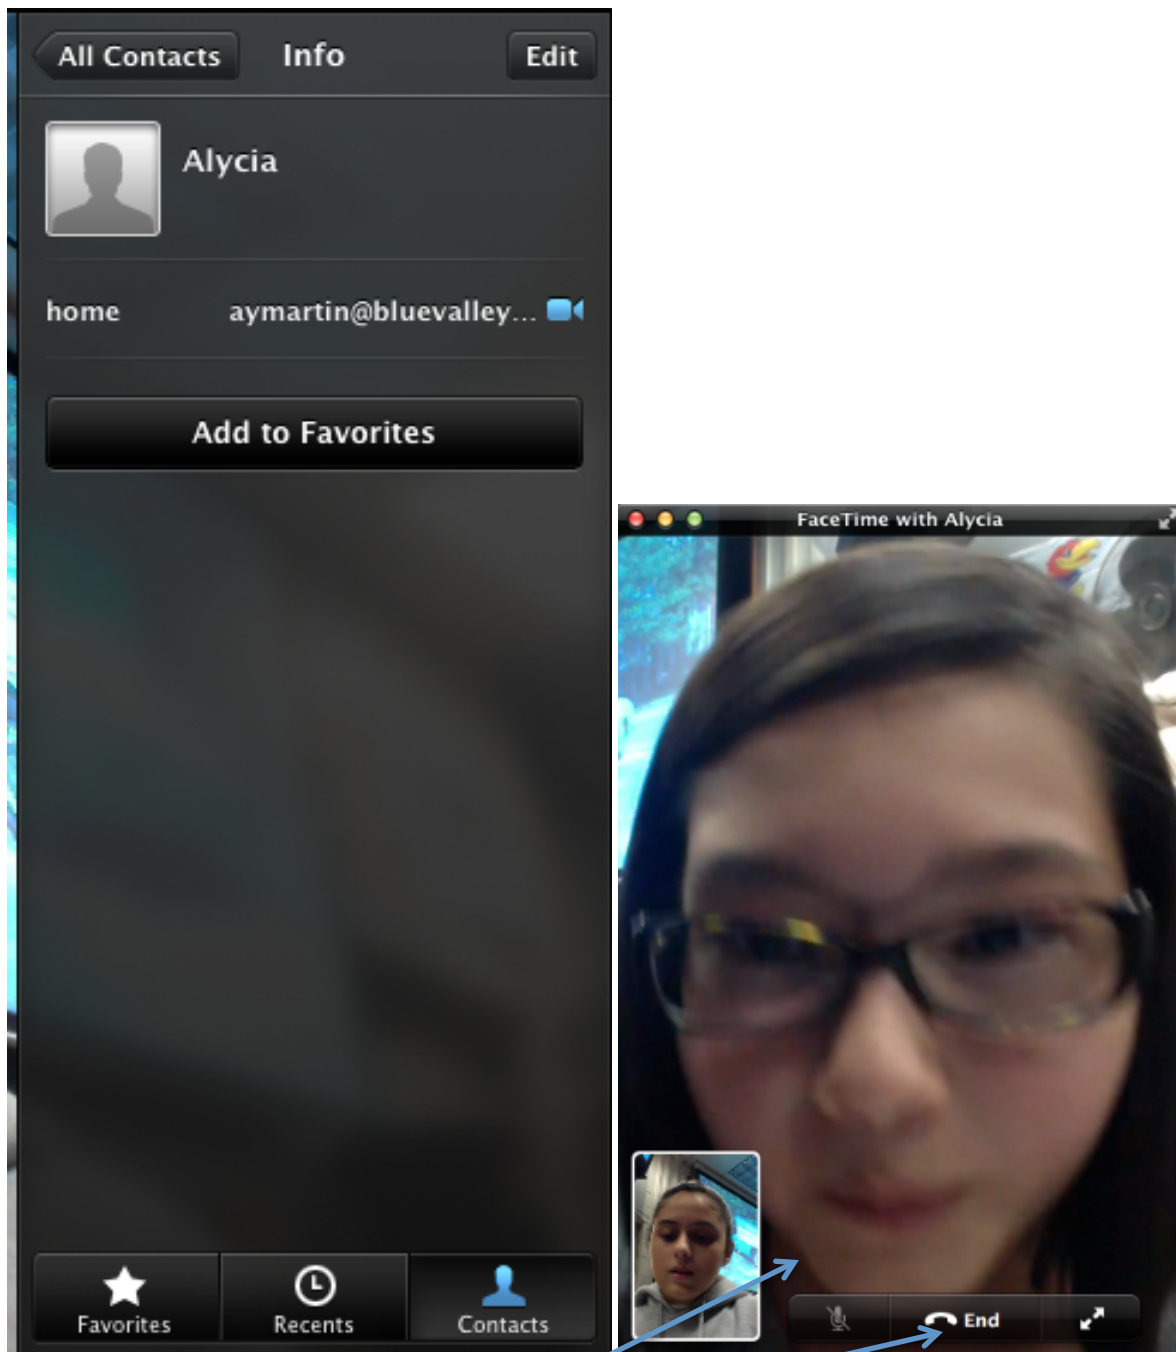

Once you have signed up, choose the email address you want to use for your Facetime account.

Go to the contacts section of Facetime and choose a contact to call.

Then, once you are on the contact's information, tap the small blue video camera.

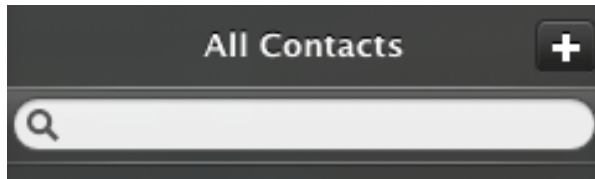

You are now in your Face time video call.

To end the call, tap "End":

To add a new contact on the iPad and Mac, go to your contacts list and tap the plus sign.

Fill out the contact's information and then you are all set to start video calling.
